

Cortical activation vs. average force derivative across participants

